

Hi guys, Merry Christmas and A Big Happy New Year 2009 to all of you! ;) It's the first day of 2009 and I am currently working on My Blog 3.0 right now. Most of the files / folder structures are now using the Joomla 1.5 format. After restructuring these, adding new features will be much faster / easier as we only need to cater / test for Joomla 1.5. Apart from the file / folder structure changes, codes are restructured massively as well. Which also means that you'll see better / more menu links when creating a new menu item for My Blog ;)

Feature wise, we are still currently compiling the list of what should be added. If you have any ideas in mind, do let me know. As for changes to the layout, it now displays the 'category' that the blog is posted in.

Cheers!